Nora Halpern	I recommend trying again with your bank. They were not given clear instructions or time to rev up at first...but I hear it is better now.
Sarah Barzmehri	Jeff, they are asking for SS# or Tax ID #. Is it safe to release these online?
Sharon Malley	Johannes,
Jason Horowitz	Hi Holly Koons!
Julia	Hi Holly!
Michelle Isabelle-Stark	Holly!
Sharon Malley	that is a question for the presenters, I am just a participant.
Jeff	There may be another funding source for artists in distress. There are some artists who are not in financial distress. So, it's possible for artists to donate to help other artists. I'm working with Artist Relief. I am donating a portion of my sales to them to help artists in dire financial need. Just something to think about.
Christina @ 3SN	State and Regional Arts Organizations https://www.arts.gov/partners/state-regional
Nora Halpern	Happy to talk about Artist Relief if someone puts the questions
Johannes Birringer	thank you Jeff. I do feel there is too much talk about money, to be honest.
Johannes Birringer	i did not realize the meeting was about financial distress.
Joseph Orzal	lol
Kate Lanxner	The late ex-Beatle George Harrison's charitable The Material World Foundation is already donating $500,000 to three relief efforts for COVID-19 but to raise more funds they have put out a call for songwriters or lyricists to donate a chorus or verse, based on the Beatle song "The Inner Light" to raise more funds (donating $1 for
Rosa Ines Vera	Just put up the artist Relief question
Richard L Dana	Let's ask Nora about Artist Relief. I'm posing the question
Joseph Orzal	everyones gona get fired from museums
Renee Sandell	We need a new WPA
Jeff	@Johannes I don't know your situation, but many artists have loss their sources of income, teaching for example. Artists often of marginal means. I don't understand
Verity	@Johannes - say what now?
Cheryl Edwards	Please vote for my question about the WPA model to bump it up, it is a model which sustained many artists nationally during the depression during the 1930s, it
annette polan	Is anyone or any organization organizing or thinking about organizing exhibitions for art made during this time - art about this time
Craig	collective cheers for a new WPA!
Phyllis Hecht	agree with Jack about fundraising skills and digital skills too

Gail Rebhan	Cheryl I voted for your question.
Michelle Isabelle-Stark	I added it to a comment from Denee Barr
Mary Early	@Johannes - the finances are a barometer of all other issues relating to the virus, job security, access to health insurance. it is an essential part of the conversation at
Jeff	@annette, I would be interested in that too.
Allison Nance	For Jack - It seems MD has been quick and flexible to meet the needs of their grantees. Can you give any insight into why MD was so nimble and other surrounding agencies haven't? Any suggestions for how grantees can advocate to
Johannes Birringer	I'd be interested in hearing about lateral and bottom up work. in my community, that is what we do, we grow things slowly and start finding old strategies, not new
Dianne Beal	Maybe for the next Town Hall meeting we can discuss new strategies for virtual and / or real distribution of artistic creation.
Richard L Dana	Hey Phyllis!!!

annette polan	I've started something interesting. discovered a professor from MIT who is making music from proteins
Johannes Birringer	@Mary, i beg to disagree, finances are not a barometer.
Jeff	Oh, such a portrait of Randell and Phyllis. :wink:

Adrienne	Hey Jackie!
Frank Day	remember what Kant said: only in drinking is pure being possible
Elizabeth Bracey	Fabulous! We have been talking about how this situation has caused our organization, and so many others, to stretch and grow and rethink service delivery. Anyone who ISNT already thinking about ways to maintain a virtual presence after this isolation is over, will be missing an opportunity to connect in new ways.
Shauna lee lange	@Frank Day --classic!! :slightly_smiling_face:
Njoud	@tanya :smiley:
Maggie Gourlay	Hi everyone, good to "see" you
Adrienne	Hi Maggie!

annette polan	ThankPhyllis Ive sent your info to Smith Center for healing and the Art's Joan Hisaoka Gallery. It should be helpful.
Cameron Gray	Yeah Jeff + Allison - signing up now!
Ruth Noack	interesting for me to see that even throughout the third space, the art world remains segregated on so many levels...
Helen Frederick	Jack do you want to mention the MARYLAND SUMMIT??
Jack Rasmussen	please do
Ruth Noack	I have not seen a single black or brown face here
B Frank	Great presentation Phyllis'

Ruth Noack	:slightly_smiling_face:

Cheryl Edwards	Question for the current panel will anyone advocate for the historical WPA MODEL TO THE local and federal level, that will help us. Please bump up the question.
Gabrielle Tillenburg	Thanks for bringing that up, Ruth. I'm thinking about how while digital content can be a great tool to bring art to more people, but it is still inequitable because not everyone can afford the technology or internet to participate.
L. Lee	Absolutely Gabrielle
Ruth Noack	Thanks Peter! I recently did an exhibition on Sleeping as a form of subversion and keep thinking about the relevance of this for this time
Mary Early	Hi Ruth - I intended to meet you when Whitman Walker reopened - time flies, and now this - hope to meet in person in a few months when things are clear

Ruth Noack	Yes, Sharon: TheCorner@whitman-walker.org .
Gabrielle Tillenburg	RE: Sleep; The Nap Ministry has been putting out good content about rest as a form of resistance, especially right now.
Julia	Great idea, Cheryl.
Sharon Malley	thanks Ruth - (I was a volunteer with W-W in the 80's)
Johannes Birringer	interesting, this look back idea; notebooks from the recent performances....
Ruth Noack	We actually have an exhibition in our closed space right now about the children in detention centers along the border - they are so invisible right now, even though there is the occasional article in a newspaper, and they are so precarised and COVID-19 is impacting on that in terrible ways. So there is a whole other aspect to all this
Craig	This should be a regular event -- a kind of check-in with arts organizations and funders (this feels like there is a world out there and inherently builds a community of 429 people but representing organizations in the DMV - to see how this unfolds in a month, say. Also, to do one that is a virtual tour of the museums spaces and the third-space art projects -- as if the curator was giving us a tour.

Ruth Noack	if you are interested in this: DYKWTC.com
